NETWORK WITH TRADE PROFESSIONALS

We held this event in the spring virtually and it was a great success! Networking with your peers is important and often hard to meet people at an event. We take the stress out of networking with structured rounds - in the style of speed dating! First each person has two minutes to introduce themselves - who you are and what you do. Next everyone gets put into smaller breakout tables. At the end of each session, everyone changes tables and starts again. A list of possible discussion topics will be provided. Connect with other members and have a great time!

- Make new contacts in a short period of time
- No stress of introductions - everyone has the same purpose
- Allows you to converse and possibly set up future meetings
- Members supporting other members - put a face to LRBRA members
